Welcome to Knights Mill Subdivision, Valdosta, Georgia! Established in 2007, Knights Mill Subdivision is conveniently located and neighborhood friendly. The only access into the neighborhood is via Alene Way and Knights Mill Drive, both of which join up with each other quite quickly, forming the circular Knights Mill Drive. Norton Place and Verde Lane are accessible via Knights Mill Drive only, so you will find no one driving through to get to another location. It is just a few short minutes to Moody Air Force Base to the north, and Valdosta State University to the south. Along the way, you will find South Georgia Medical Center, Smith Northview Hospital, many grocery stores, restaurants, banks, and stores for all your cares and wants.

Public education is provided by the Valdosta City School system. Valdosta has a number of excellent private schools as well. Knights Mill requires sidewalks, and drivers have to use slower speeds to travel around the gracefully curving streets themselves. Hardwood and pine trees, and the personal landscaping of its residents give the Knights Mill subdivision a verdant green canvas in the spring and summer months.
